Valuing Community-Led Design

The project brought together multiple disciplines and multiple stakeholder perspectives of community led design to help make a case for its value.

WHAT IS THE VALUE OF CLD? (WHAT IS THE VALUE AND IMPACT OF CLD FOR YOU AND OTHERS?)

Transforming/improving design practice

Better design outcomes, improving quality

Social value, community building and sustainability

Citizenship

Personal development

Public goods

Everyday creativity

HOW DO YOU CAPTURE VALUE? (WHAT APPROACHES, METHODS, MEASUREMENTS DO YOU USE?)

Appraising techniques, participatory appraisal evaluation

Interviews, recording stories/narratives, quotes

Visualising stories, visual and experience mapping

Open Questions, mobile interviews

Dissemination workshops

Film, photography, video, digital platforms and media, social media (blogs, websites)

Asset maps

Focus groups, ethnographic work consultation with residents and local businesses, through meetings

Measuring value by amount of money drawn into a project

Quantitative surveys: data about participation

CONNECTED COMMUNITIES

The Open University